

Data types

- * Classification or categorization of data items
- * Represents the kind of value that tells what operations can be performed on a particular data
- * Data types are actually classes in python and variables are instance (object) of these classes.

Data types in python

